Dear Students,

Another academic year has quietly written its story — a story of effort, resilience, discovery, and growth. Every classroom discussion, every examination, every success, and even every setback has helped shape you into stronger individuals. Carry this spirit with you wherever you go. Wishing you rest, reflection, and greater achievements ahead.

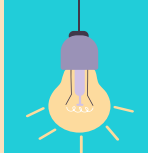

Dear Students,

As we reach the end of this academic year, I want you to remember that every effort you made, every mistake you learned from, and every success you achieved has helped you grow stronger and wiser. Use this break to rest, dream big, and return with fresh energy to achieve even greater heights. Keep learning, keep smiling, and keep believing in yourself.
